Job Training Opportunities

JobPath has education and job training opportunities available now for adults living in Pima County. Program areas include aviation technology, dental and medical careers, law enforcement academy, fire science academy, electrical utility technology, CDL Training, AA degree in engineering, and electrician apprentice. A full list of opportunities is available on our website.

Pathways for Highly Skilled Immigrants and Refugees also has openings for participants. This program provides personalized career coaching for immigrants and refugees with college and professional experience gained in other countries. A supportive team including other immigrants and community volunteers, helps participants increase their understanding of U.S. job search tactics, workplace culture and civics. Participants also learn about higher education opportunities and how to develop networking skills. •

Updates and Happenings

- A building for JobPath is part of a bond proposal being considered by Pima County as this newsletter goes to the printer. If approved, the bond will come up for a vote on November 3, 2015. Here's how you can help. If you are not registered to vote, please do so! Then vote yes on the bond proposal on the November ballot. Many thanks to PCIC/PCICEO for its support of this bond initiative. Remember that your vote matters and your voice counts in the bond process and all political matters.
- JobPath Career Counselor Silviya Wilson is retiring. Please join us in wishing her well and honoring her many years of service with JobPath.
- The Paths to Education & Success Resource Fair on February 21, 2015 was a great success. Thank you to all the community partners who participated.
- Supporting JobPath is easy! Arizona's Working Poor Tax Credit has been renamed "Contributions to Qualifying Charitable Organizations." A donation of up to $200 ($400 for couples) can still be subtracted directly from your state taxes (more info at azdor.gov/TaxCredits.aspx). To make a donation, use the return envelope, give online via our secure website, or contribute through the United Way. Thank you! •
